Foreword

La—deez and gentlemen!

Step right up! Presenting the world's most colossal show! Yes—sir—ee! Five performances weekly! Six big rings! Over five hundred performers! Sideshows! Main attractions! And it's all for you, ladies and gentlemen, it's all for you.

All the bustle, the ballyhoo, the heartbreaks of any circus make up the years of our lives spent under the big top of Mentor High. The center pole is comparable to the high ideals and traditions of our school around which are built the thousand and one acts witnessed by our audience, the community. We are playing for them and we must never let them down by presenting a slipshod act. We all start as apprentices but as we work our way up the ladder to the star positions we begin to realize that these are only the preliminaries, that we are preparing ourselves for the feature performances, for the big time, and that we must be well-trained.

Every circus has its souvenir program and this annual is yours—presenting the Big Show of 1947!
Dedication

On the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mentor High School, we, the seniors of 1947, dedicate this annual to the past and to the future. We challenge you, who are to come, to uphold the standards of the past—responsibility, helpfulness, industry, courtesy, loyalty—and to remember that come what may, "The Show Must Go On!"

In The Office

IT IS A privilege to extend greetings to your class of '47 as you complete your high school career at Mentor and contemplate your next step in your plan of life.

The greatest war of all time has been over but a year and our country is passing through a period of readjustment—social, economic, and spiritual. In these troubled times, you will be confronted with many new opportunities as well as corresponding responsibilities.

These responsibilities and opportunities will be a challenge, and to them you must direct your every effort and your greatest abilities. Your training during your high school days should serve you well.

May our best wishes for your greatest success and happiness go with you in every future endeavor.

Dale R. Rice

BOARD OF EDUCATION

A MODERN high school has a wide variety of activities going on throughout the school year, in addition to the formal class study and instruction of its students. Education in such a school is not only preparation for future living; it is real living, here and now.

There was a time in the past when some students may have been justified in general dislike of school because nothing in the school program appealed to them. But when a modern school offers opportunities in studies along all lines of knowledge, and activities of all sorts to supplement them, then a boy or girl must certainly be odd if he has a general dislike of school; it would seem that he dislikes living.

Actual comparison of school today with school yesterday results in real appreciation of the opportunities of the modern high school.
