Foreword

The brittle sheen of space rockets looms in the distant horizon, for the conquest of space will probably be made by our generation. Yet in these pages we are telling an old tale. As we walk into a world of scientific advancement, we leave word here of grim exam days, of misty prom evenings, of brisk football nights—our years at Mentor High.
Dedication

MR. WILLIAM NORDMAN

Each year the annual staff selects an individual to whom they wish to dedicate the annual. This dedication recognizes service and many other worthy merits which have been bestowed upon the school and the student body of Mentor High.

This year the Cardinal Notes has been dedicated to William Nordman, supervisor of instrumental music in Mentor Public Schools. During his years at Mentor, Mr. Nordman has brought a greater respect for good band music by his excellent direction and guidance. Frequently, his band takes honors at state and district contests.

We know, however, that this dedication can show only a portion of how we feel about Mr. Nordman and his fine contributions to our school, and what more we feel cannot be expressed in words.
Seniors

Becker —
The Class of 1960 has reached its final year with a grand rush of enthusiasm. After a great anxiety about the depleted class treasury, the class boasted a balance from various money-making projects. The class was overjoyed when Joyce Lawler, treasurer, announced that the balance was growing to be a respectable sum.

Shirley Kuzyk as secretary reports activities of homeroom officers who handle such matters as graduation announcements. In addition, Shirley takes care of class correspondence.

Class meetings were arranged and planned by vice president Laura Armstrong. President Bob Dyrenforth handled class events including many matters such as the Homecoming Dance and graduation arrangements.

With these four persons as leaders, the 1960 class is leaving its impressions on the school. Although not everyone can lead, each individual is important because each made some contribution which is part of the whole impression being left at Mentor High School.

Juniors

Wical —
JUNIOR CLASS

The junior class officers, as their titles would imply, have the responsibility of guiding the junior class through one whole school year. They accept this office for better or for worse, richer or poorer, and do their best to leave it better and richer at the end of the year than it was when they found it at the beginning of the year.

The junior class probably has the biggest financial problems of any of the classes. Theirs was the difficult, dreaded task of raising enough money to pay for the prom this year and the annual, which they will put out in their senior year. Main sources of the money include the magazine drive, the refreshment stand at the football games, and the junior class play.

The junior class officers held regular meetings throughout the year to discuss the problems of their class. Every once in a while, too, the whole class had a meeting, so they could be informed about how their officers were doing at managing the class affairs. For the most part, they had little cause to be dissatisfied.

It can be safely said that this was the best junior class in the high school this year, but it actually has left a remarkably good impression on everyone. There are a large number of those people in it who really work at making a success of everything they do, and always seem to be around when anyone needs help. In the fields of leadership, individuality, scholarship, personality, and perseverance, this class was par excellence.

What is in store for the junior class? One more year of hard work and lively play. With the experience gained in their play production, prom sponsorship, and refreshment selling, it is expected that they will have a productive senior year. Mentor High School can look forward to fine leadership in the 1960-61 school year.

This was the sophomore class’s first year at Mentor High. Generally they would be alone in this distinction, but they were forced to share the honors with the freshman class, due to the widespread reorganizational movement throughout the Mentor School System.

Once adjusted to the many facets of high school life, they leaped into action. The first order of business was the election of officers. To serve as their leaders they chose some of the most active people in the class. Their president is Bob Storm, who filled his schedule to the brim with class responsibilities. Ginny Kushen is the vice-president. In other activities she is busy in the Scholarship Club and the G. A. A. Serving a term as secretary is Vicki Pozar. Her activities are much the same as Ginny’s, including homeroom officer, the Scholarship Club, and the Hi-Lites. Lisa Dice is the treasurer and includes Student Council and J. V. cheerleading among her activities. These officers are doing an excellent job serving their class.

As can be seen above, the sophomores have active officers, but, not to be outdone, the whole class followed this lead. They started out the year by helping the rest of the school with the magazine drive. The class made a substantial contribution to the total. In mid-February they sponsored a dance which did a great deal toward padding their treasury for the sponsorship of their prom next year. Both Mr. Hammond and Mr. Andrews have spoken to them in homeroom about their future occupations.

This sophomore class has shown unusual industry, and they show every promise of even greater improvement in the future. With their past record and their future promise in mind, there should be little doubt in anyone’s mind that this will be one of the outstanding classes in all of Mentor High School history.

This year the halls became crowded with a new addition called the freshman class. However, after the confusion which the freshman students caused, they became an important part of the high school. In almost every activity there are some freshmen who are making important contributions.

In the fall the freshmen elected their class officers. As president they chose Elizabeth Parker, and to help her they elected Wini Bos as vice president. John Dyrenforth became their treasurer, while Susan Burgess was chosen as their secretary. Under the leadership of these officers, the class has shown wonderful prospects for the coming three years.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Mrs. C. C. Brumbaugh, serving her seventh year as a member of the Mentor School Board, was unanimously chosen president of the board at a meeting held early in the year. George Briggs, Jr., re-elected to the board in November, was named vice president. Donald Brown was again selected as clerk-treasurer. John Ruple was elected to his first term.

It was agreed that the board should continue with its regular meetings on the second Wednesday of each month.
Mentor High's principal, Ellis Hostetler, can remember the early days of our school. In this position, it has been his task to guide the school in its growth.

Garry Andrews, assistant principal, has also been at Mentor High for many years. Through his amiable manner, he has become a popular part of our administration.

Miss Florence Davis, assistant principal and Dean of Girls, during the years has gained the respect of every Mentor High School student. Wayne Hammond, Dean of Boys, has taught at Mentor High for several years, but this was his first year as Dean.

There are many people who work behind the scenes to make our school life pleasanter than it could ever be without them. It is seldom that we think of our cooks and custodians, but they contribute duties which are vital to our school life. For this reason, they deserve much recognition.

This year again, Mrs. Howard Chapuis is in charge of the cooks, and they have done their best to bring the students the best-tasting, most nutritious meals it is possible to conjure.

Behind the scenes of our school are always the custodians, who work during school and late into the evening. Whenever someone compliments our school for its cleanliness and neatness, much credit should go to the custodians who are responsible for the great amount of work they provide to keep our school in good repair, another example of their importance.

Activity
The Annual Staff consists of a group of devoted students who are willing to give some of their time and effort to turning out an annual of which their school can rightly be proud. Most of those who were chosen to work on any of the various staffs deem it a privilege to have been selected to serve their school in this way.

Everyone doubtlessly knows, but seldom thinks about the fact that this annual is entirely a student project, advised by Miss Eloise Stoner. Everyone who is not connected with making the book up seems to take it completely for granted that there will be one. They will never know how close they always come to not having one, or how much hard work was done before the finished product was presented to the students.

All staffs had important tasks which were completed with the help of the editor and assistant editor. The Art Staff furnished drawings for feature pages. Information about activities was compiled into printable form by the Script Staff. The Business Staff helped finance the annual. Many other problems were surmounted by other staffs.

Without exception, everyone enjoyed the work on the annual this year.

Serving the student body, the Student Council is a service organization interested in co-ordinating relations between students and teachers. The council meets weekly while many vital functions are carried on by standing committees.

The Traffic Committee sets up student driving regulations, enforcing them with help from the Hearing Committee. Outstanding service is recognized by the Student of the Month Committee. The Building and Grounds Committee strives to keep the school clean. The Concessions Committee grant permits to clubs carrying on money-making projects.

High academic performance is the basis for Scholarship Club membership. Chosen because of their achievement in the past year, members represent the top ten per cent of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

The major activity of the club is an annual banquet. This year the WMPW Banquet was held at Harvey High School on the twenty-first day of October.

The Scholarship Club has elected Richard Goetsch as president. Richard, by qualifying for the National Merit Contest Semi-finals and by achieving superior rank in his class, has reached scholastic heights.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Thirty-nine members of the junior and senior classes were inducted into the National Honor Society with a solemn ritual on December 11, 1959. Students who were honored at this special assembly were elected on the basis of scholarship, service, leadership, and character.

National Honor Society requires that only ten per cent of the senior class and five per cent of the junior class be allowed membership each year.

Ritual of Induction itself was conducted by the members of the society who had been elected in their junior year. After the students had assembled, Nils Holt, presiding officer, explained to the group the purpose of the society and described the weight of the honor that was about to be bestowed.

The meaning of the symbols of the National Honor Society was explained. Joan Hennel described the importance of the torch; Karen Loesch discussed the merit of scholarship. William Hoffman, Bonnie Randall, and Norman Hulderman told of service, character, and leadership.

New members first discovered they had been elected when they were tapped by an old member. The N. H. S. oath was administered, and the new members were invited to sign the club’s register. Gretchen Winkler pinned new members. Thomas Dice was in charge of the candles, and Charles Traver and Glick Schultz acted as ushers. Steven Harrold administered the signing of the book.

Immediately after the N. H. S. assembly, the group assembled and elected officers for the year to come. Charles Traver was elected as president, Paul Dobbert as vice president, Gretchen Winkler as secretary, and John Saile as treasurer.

The major activity of the National Honor Society is an annual banquet held during Christmas vacation. This year the dinner was on December 28, 1959, at Hellriegel’s Inn. After an excellent dinner, present members and alumni introduced themselves, and a discussion was held concerning differences between high school and college.

The Key Club is a service organization, its membership being limited to set percentages of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes.

George Pitzer and George Kindsvatter, sponsors, lead the club in its activities, including its money-making drives and its service movements.

The most permanent example of Key Club activity is the Larry Wheat Memorial, an award presented annually to the outstanding senior band member.

The Varsity "M" is a club at Mentor High School which exists solely for those boys who have distinguished themselves on the athletic field. Lettermen from any varsity sport are eligible to become members.

The two big events that the Varsity "M" sponsors are the annually held Varsity "M" Track Meet and the Varsity "M" Dance. This year the club decided to have the dance in mid-winter and chose the date of January 23. The track meet is always held in the spring during the regular track season.

The Log, one of the school's weekly publications, appears in the local newspaper, the Mentor Monitor. This is entirely a student project which tries to keep an accurate record of the school's activities throughout the year.

The organization attempts to teach its staff the techniques of journalism through experience and practice, and to help each of its members to be a more responsible and conscientious person.

With the assistance of Mr. Wayne Hammond, the editorial staff spends many hours trying to make their paper interesting and attractive as do many of its reporters who spend much of their time writing their stories and helping to make up and edit the paper. This trial and error method by experience is often hard on the rewrite staff. Hard work and satisfaction go into every newspaper.

LITERARY CLUB

The Literary Club is an innovation at Mentor High this year. The purpose of this club is to encourage creative writing. Those students who enjoy writing such forms as the short story, essay, and poem are members of the club. As club members, they are entitled to constructive criticism and guidance.

Near the end of the school year, the club will publish the best works which have been submitted by its members. This publication, presented under the supervision of Mr. Moor, will be the club's first contribution to Mentor High School.

In coming years, Mr. Moor is hoping that the club will grow in its scope of activities; he is hoping that the club will also have speakers who will criticize work which has been contributed. Therefore, the seniors of Mentor High are leaving a growing activity at Mentor, hoping it will mature during future years.

MR. MOOR, Advisor
The National Thespian Society is composed of students who have given outstanding service to dramatics. This service may have been given through working on crews or through acting. The combined work of these Thespian members is the important foundation for dramatics at Mentor High School.

During the year, three productions are presented in the high school auditorium. Two of the plays are class projects. One is given by the senior class, and the next is produced by the junior class. Finally, in the spring the Thespian Society presents an all-school play.

The faculty sponsor of these plays is Mr. J. Robert Jay. During rehearsals he spends every week night coaching the cast in their work, and each activity concerning play production is under his direction; he is a vital part of Mentor dramatics.
The Mentor Branch of the Future Business Leaders of America has long been an active and popular organization in this school. Its members consist mainly of business students, and it is necessary to take one business subject in order to qualify. Its purpose is to help in preparing future secretaries and businessmen for their work by uniting them so that they can discuss their common interests and learn more about the business world.

It is always an advantage of clubs of this type in that by uniting all the students with a common interest, the interest is kept strong, and goals seem more tangible when the student can see others with the same goal in mind.

At Mentor High there are many such students with an enthusiastic attitude toward the business field. These students need no encouragement to join this organization. The F. B. L. A. has always exemplified and thrived on this enthusiasm.
Hoping to follow in the footsteps of the faculty, the members of the Future Teachers of America meet once a month to listen to speakers who tell them more about their chosen field or have discussions on some other relevant subject. These monthly meetings are valuable in helping the members prepare for the future.

The Future Teachers of America have many activities. They honored the teachers by giving them apples during American Education Week. On special occasions they substitute for teachers, and they ushered at the annual N.E.O.T.A. Convention. For these services, members earn points for pin awards given to them at the end of the school year.

Serving as sponsors of the club’s activities are Mrs. Marcella Phillips, Mrs. Rachael Sanborn, Ronald Dobler, and Robert Sutch.

PEP CLUB

Members of the Pep Club are the faithful and enthusiastic fans of all Mentor High's athletic activities. One of the unstated goals of the club is to recruit as many members as possible, if not in number, at least in spirit. They have seats reserved for them in the special cheering section at the football and basketball games. This arrangement, under the direction of the peppy cheerleaders, is a stimulus for the team. The club has succeeded in upping the attendance at the games and hopes to spread its enthusiasm throughout the student body.

G. A. A.

With the arrival of freshman and sophomore girls at Mentor High last fall, the Girls Athletic Association grew to a tremendous size. Now the majority of girls from all four classes are members of the G. A. A. Consequently, the responsibility of the officers has increased with the additional membership.

Since the G. A. A. is so large, the traditional initiation was impossible. Instead, Gaynel Naderer, President, with the help of Mrs. Glenda Enderle, G. A. A. Advisor, planned a recreation night. Helping with the project were Gretchen Winkler, Vice President; Laura Armstrong, Treasurer; and Gail Johnson, Secretary.

Council meetings were held regularly. At these meetings the officers and sports managers planned the year's G. A. A. activities. The intramural program and the revival of the point system were among the projects planned. Of course, the G. A. A. Formal was one of the major activities. The formal, named "Mistletoe Magic" by the decorating committee, was held December 22.

Besides planning this year's program, the council has established procedures which will be helpful in future years.
SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club, one of the more recent innovations of our school, has been rising rapidly in popularity and activity. By now the members have many miles of field trips behind them and have gathered new ideas on subjects presented by numerous guest speakers. In March, the club sponsored a Science Night, which was open to contributions from the whole school. The club has accomplished a great deal and has proved itself worth while for all future scientists and for those who want to belong to an active organization.

Among the more interesting programs was one on hypnosis with Dr. Donald Beebe as speaker and demonstrator. This latter term is made in reference to his casting "spells" on a few of the members present. Even those students who were in the audience found themselves unknowingly following the steps to hypnotizing themselves.

Despite its short existence, the Science Club has displayed much organization and initiative.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

Seated—Mrs. Sanborn, Susan Briggs, Mr. Andrews, Mr. Barnes, Mr. Nordman, Karen Loesch, Mr. Jay. Standing—Paul Dobbert, Richard Goetsch.

The Assembly Committee had a difficult task this year, with increased enrollment necessitating double assemblies.

Mr. J. Robert Jay headed the faculty members. Two seniors, Karen Loesch and Richard Goetsch, and two juniors, Susan Briggs and Paul Dobbert, represented the student body.

MAGAZINE COMMITTEE

Seated—Gretchen Proudfoot, Avery Schwab, Bob Metelko, Dave Rhodes. Standing—Mr. Phillips, Sponsor; John Saile, Chairman.

Student co-operation with the Magazine Committee resulted in the attainment of almost $10,000 in subscriptions, with commissions in the offering for worthwhile activities.

William Sperling initiated the drive at the annual kick-off assembly. Students showing excellent sales ability, as top salesman Mike Paulson, were given their choice of a variety of prizes in order of achievement.

Varsity football takes the spotlight at Mentor High School; and, for that matter, it has for as long as most people would like to remember. This year’s season was not as spectacular as many people would like to have had it, but it is worth favorable comment just the same.

Jack Hecker, coaching his first year here at Mentor High School as head coach, turned out a good record. The credit must also be divided among his assistant coaches. These coaches—Tony Mulholland, Don Fuchs, Tom Kisselle, and Gene Spurrer filled in the organization at their individual coaching positions.

Looking back over the promise shown during this football season, the 1960 team, with returning lettermen, should be better yet.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

An excellent report can be given about the freshman football team not only because they had an undefeated season, but also because they are the heart and soul of future junior varsity and later, the varsity team.

This was a big year for freshman football at Mentor High School. Freshmen made their entrance into the school with a very big noise. They played tough teams all through the season and came out without a single defeat.

Their whole season’s record is a tribute not only to the players but also to Head Freshman Coach Bill Donaldson and Assistant Coach Tom Houston. If it is true that a team can be no better than its coaches, these men have certainly proved their excellence.

The importance of freshman football cannot be overly stressed. Football players must be trained in the fundamentals before they reach the varsity level. There simply is not enough time once they reach that stage. When speaking in these terms, it must be said that in many ways Coach Donaldson and Coach Houston are more important to a winning team than is the head varsity coach. True, they must also supplement each other, but without the first, the second would have a rough time of it. These are just a few of the many reasons why the freshman football squad is so important to the football program.

Basketball is the unquestioned major sport during the winter season. The large crowds, who are behind the team whether they win or lose, are substantial proof of the statement. And, moreover, the Cardinal team rarely disappoints these fans. They make good showings against even the roughest opposition.

Both Head Coach Gene Spurrier and Head J. V. Coach Jack Hecker agree that a number of games were lost due to one poor quarter. The team, lacking in experience and height, had trouble in finding the range for the basket. After percentages were compiled, the team was shown to be shooting twenty-four per cent for a low and thirty-six per cent for a high from the field. Although this year's squad had difficulty in winning, it is felt the team was a better squad than their record indicated.
J. V. BASKETBALL TEAM

Although the J. V. team ran against some tough luck in their games this year, the boys feel confident that their many hours of practice will pay off in high scores next season. The team consists mainly of sophomore members. Dick Zinse who displayed outstanding ability, played on the team for awhile and then was boosted to the Varsity Team. The J. V. boys practiced each night after school with the varsity team and were under the same managers, Dave Kranz, Kevin Oltmanns, and Bob Storm. The J. V.'s goal is to make the varsity team next year.
WRESTLING

This is the fourth year of wrestling at Mentor High. Since Coach Riesen’s introduction of the sport to our school, it has gained many loyal fans and many high honors. Currently the team is being coached by Tony Mulholland. With his leadership and spirit, the team is packed with the power and enthusiasm necessary to tuck match after match under its belt.

The wrestling team has been shuttled about a good deal in search of space in which to practice. The basketball team more or less monopolized the gym. Two years ago the team was able to squeeze into the gym after supper when the cagers had gone home. The following year they practiced more conveniently in the visual education room. With this year’s shuffling of classrooms, the wrestling team was once again forced to move. For lack of a better place, they are now practicing on mats in their own locker room with members of the squad lined around the mat to prevent participants from hitting their heads on steel lockers or cement floors.

WRESTLING SQUAD
A championship track team has been the rule at Mentor High rather than the exception. For proof a second glance at the trophy case will suffice.

Though track fans do not start thinking in terms of stop watches until spring is well under way, the track squad is very conscious of the coming season. Team members fill the gym with sounds of running and conditioning exercises while the snow still clogs the parking lot.

Under the supervision of Head Coach Clarence Reese and Assistant Coach Tony Mulholland, the “Red Bird” team maintains high hopes for another N. E. C. title and possible placement in district “Red Bird” team maintains high hopes for another N. E. C. title and possible placement in district and state meets. Mentor High track teams have won generous recognition in all these areas in the past, and Coaches Reese and Mulholland see no reason why this year’s team cannot duplicate the feat.
CROSS COUNTRY SQUAD

BASEBALL

Rush out of the school, jockey for the most favorable position in the line of cars, and head for the Shore School diamond. This is the first drill the 1960 baseball team goes through in their nightly practices. Because the track team has sole rights to the M. H. S. athletic field, the baseball team commutes daily to the junior high for their practices beginning the first week in March. Since the spring rains are always an obstacle and quite often present, practices are frequently moved into the gym where the team practices fundamentals.

Though in some ways the team has been hampered by a yearly change in coaches, this year’s team finds the new coach, Dave Enderle, more than capable. The prospects for the season are also enhanced by the return of many experienced upperclassmen and a hard-working group of underclassmen. These two factors should make up one of Mentor’s finest teams with great possibilities for a winning squad.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Since the cheerleaders are often the center of attention, it is their job to set an example for the rest of the school. They are usually leaders in their school and take pride in their activities.

This small but dauntless group tries ceaselessly to instill enthusiasm and school spirit in the student body. They are the ones who show up for every football and basketball game regardless of weather or distance and set an example of good sportsmanship to other schools as well as their own.
Junior Varsity Cheerleaders

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders must meet the same requirements as the Varsity Cheerleaders, but they have more to work for. They are constantly working toward the goal of earning a place on the varsity squad. As a rule, the J. V.’s are younger than the varsities, but this does not mean that they are any less energetic or have any less school spirit.

They cheer at the junior varsity basketball games and pep rallies, and these are their primary functions besides being ambassadors of school spirit to the rest of the student body at Mentor High School.

CHOIR

A well-developed music program constitutes a large part of Mentor's extracurricular activities. The backbone of these groups is the Senior Choir.

The Pop Choir, originated last year, is a more select group which sings popular arrangements and does other unusual arrangements in vocal work.

The Girls' Ensembles and the Boys' Ensemble are smaller vocal groups. Finally, the Girls' Glee Clubs and the Boys' Glee Club are groups which are not selective but are preliminary for any other vocal groups.

These groups perform at concerts, assemblies, and other outside activities.

HOMECOMING

The Homecoming ceremonies this year were especially thrilling. Instead of announcing the queen in advance, the committee in charge kept her name secret until the crowning.

That night the court, composed of four girls, was presented to the crowd. After being introduced, they presided over the game.

At half time Joan Hennel was announced as Homecoming Queen of 1959. After being properly crowned and kissed, she was escorted to her throne by Vern Lunsford and Norm Hulderman while the band played, “Oh, You Beautiful Doll.”

Queen Joan presided over the Homecoming Dance with attendants Jacqueline Brown, Martha Phelps, Dorothy Walker, and Gretchen Winkler.

The Queen and her court reigned
Senior Play Cast

The senior class production this year was The Little Dog Laughed. This play, a comedy of contemporary life, was presented on the fourth and fifth days of December. With the laughter of the audience used as a criterion, the play can certainly be called a success.

Seniors on the cast fully enjoyed their work. John Saile, Joyce Lawler, and Lavonne Mitchell became experts at the cancan while the five girls who played in the tea party were put through their paces. In the meantime, Dennis Warner and Gretchen Winkler learned how to present a “stage kiss.”

Behind the scenes Mr. J. Robert Jay directed the production. Helping him in his task were student directors Karen Corlett and Gail Johnson. Stage manager Larry Boyer helped with the set, and Linda Recht was the patient prompter. These seniors, of course, were only a few among the many contributing to the play’s success.

"... and the little dog laughed to see such sport."
