OUR WORLD

A day in the life of a typical student at Mentor High is made up of more than sitting in a classroom and listening to lectures.

The day starts with finding a good parking space and being on time to homeroom. Lunch becomes a social event where students catch up on the lives of friends while grabbing something quick to eat.

For some the day ends with early dismissal and others at 2:26 p.m., and still others stay to help out in other activities. This is a day in the wonderful world of Mentor High.
A WORLD OF FUN

Both students and teachers can hardly wait for the final bell to ring on the last day of school. As we stream out into the warm sunshine of freedom we know that a summer filled with fun lies ahead.

We spend our summer earning money and, even though the work seems endless, we still find time for relaxation. Summer brings around warm days in the sun at the beach or with friends.

Summer is the time to relax and enjoy life until the first bell of the first day of school rings again.
A WORLD OF HELP

Helping to make our community better is one way to make our world a better place. We all have special talents and community service is one way to share these talents with others.

Many services are done in the community such as yard work, shoveling snow, baking, visiting the elderly, baby-sitting, and running errands. Although these services are very different, they all have one thing in common - they are rewarding.

Those who do community service help to make it better in Mentor and in our world.
On Top Of The World

After three years of working, playing, laughing, crying, caring, supporting and moving up the ranks, we can finally say "We've reached the top." Senior year is truly the most memorable and important time of our stay at Mentor High. Although we will treasure these past three years, the time is drawing near when each of us will part and begin our lives outside of the walls of Mentor High. We take with us memories of crowded hallways, study halls, lunch, and after school meetings. Outside service, sporting events and academic challenges will remain a special part of our lives. These pages reflect our lives as part of the scarlett and gray. Good luck and farewell.

I'm Jason Weaver. I am a member of the Drama Club and President of the West End YMCA's leader's club. I spent this summer in Eastern Europe, but the most fun was had upon my return. I enjoy bowling, playing basketball, trying to be funny, acting or any other theater type things, and playing music oriented board games into all hours of the night. I hope to study Astronomy at Penn State, Boston University, or Northwestern. I also enjoy working with children and writing short stories. Friends are my most important asset, for many times they have saved my life.
When you were little, did you ever dream of being a dancer? One Mentor High student is living that dream. This past summer, DeAnn Petruschke had the opportunity to travel to New York City to study ballet. She was given this chance after auditioning in Pittsburgh where only 100 students were selected to this honor. She has also danced with the Cleveland Ballet in productions such as The Nutcracker. In the future, she plans to continue her study of dance.

The Cleveland Youth Wind Symphony is a group of performers in grades nine through twelve. Musicians are selected on the basis of their outstanding musical ability. Every Saturday morning, the students drive to Cleveland for rehearsals. They perform various concerts about four times a year. During the summer, the group usually travels to perform in other areas. Two years ago, they played in New Orleans. This year, they plan to perform in Europe. Mentor's prides in the Cleveland Wind Symphony are Nobby Bona, Mary McHenry, and Carolyn Tricoci.
Before the start of our 1994-1995 season, Debbie Bresley had trained and prepared and was ready to hit the ice. Five days a week, Debbie skated at the Mentor Civic Arena from 6:00-9:30 AM, and then on the weekends she would travel to Cleveland Skating Club to train in preparation for the summer.

Debbie became the first member of the Mentor Figure Skating Club ever to pass her Eighth Figure Test and Senior Freestyle Test. This is the highest level that a figure skater can reach. Through out her skating career, Debbie has performed numerous medals at competitions both in and out of state, she has also been featured in local ice shows and on television. With a little luck maybe we'll all be watching Debbie in the next Olympics.

The World Around Us

While the world around us is constantly changing, the junior world inside Mentor High School remains the same year after year. We are always stuck in the middle, not considered as mature as Seniors, but not as young and inexperienced as Sophomores.

But Juniors play an important role at Mentor High. Without us, there would be an unexplainable void. We are being prepared for our last, and most important, year, while at the same time we are helping the sophomores get through their first year here.

Not only is our role expanding at Mentor High, it is growing in the "real world" too. We are becoming more responsible and are doing more for ourselves. Soon there won't be people around to tell us what and when to do things. The education we are receiving this year will not only be valuable this year, but for the rest of our lives.

Good luck Class of '95!

Hurry! The bell already rang!

Don’t look so surprised. Didn’t you see the photographer?

Hey Justin, how come this picture looks so familiar?
This year's sophomore section theme, A Whole New World, fits all sophomores. Mentor High School is their New World. Some sophomores started their days at Mentor High School with a bang by running for class officers in September and October of 1993. They all spent endless weeks designing posters, giving speeches, and talking to their fellow classmates about why they should be elected to office. Each candidate had the right qualifications and well prepared speeches. Each should be commended for her or his hard work and extra effort. Congratulations to the Sophomore Class Officers for the 1993-94 school year:
President: Jason Moebuis
Vice President: Bridget Conway
Secretary: Dana Bauman
Treasurer: Natasha Fulton
These students are going to make the first year at Mentor High a wonderful one for their classmates and themselves.

If you were a flower, what would you be? Why?

A wildflower, because they grow free and you won’t get stepped on. — Shannon O’Bryan

A rose, because like a rose bud I am full of promise in the morning, but as the day goes on I have an open mind and am ready for the rest of the day. By night, like a rose which has already blossomed, I am dead. — Stacy McCoig

I would like to be a rose, because roses symbolize love and caring, and those two things are beautiful. — Lani Frank

A wild rose, because they grow wild and it shows how independent we can be, and they are very pretty, too. — Becky Barbur

I’d be an orchid because they are exotic and beautiful. — Amber Storrs

A jungle lily, because they’re beautiful and not common. — Cheri Glavic

An iris, because it’s different in its color and shape. It can be its natural self and still be a flower. — Jenny Swanson

One of those big white funeral flowers. I don’t why, I just like them. — Kelly Funk

A Venus fly trap. To chew up people I don’t like and spit them out onto the ground. — Michelle Antenori

A dandelion, so I could really tick people off. — Deanna D’Amore

Every year, students receive new and different teachers to assist them with their educational and social growth. Many times we forget how important our teachers are and the significance of their role in our lives. We allow the frustration and stress of school to misrepresent the kindness and generosity of the people who challenge us simply to help us. The fact that teachers are regular people gets ignored as we struggle to maintain the level of excellence they expect from us. They simply want us to achieve our full potential and they will push us until we attain it. The faculty of Mentor High School genuinely cares about the futures of the students, and many times they don’t receive enough credit. Now is the time to step back and view the members of the faculty as the people they truly are: caring, considerate, and kind.

Mrs. Carol Larkin has been teaching students for twenty years. She teaches Academic English and Reading Study Skills for college. She started teaching because she likes when students use their minds and put them to use. Mrs. Larkin likes students to ask questions and get into the conversation in class. She said she likes it when their questions are "meaningful."

Mrs. Larkin picked Academic English to teach because she says, "It gives students an opportunity to make literature come alive, without all those essays I have to read over." She had an opportunity to teach elementary kids, but she said that she has a hard time relating to her own children.

Mrs. Larkin enjoys photography, hiking, reading, and watching movies on her free time. When she's not in school, she likes to spend time with her family. She was an athletic coach for the Mentor School System.

When asked, Mrs. Larkin said the one thing she would like her students to learn before the school year ends is for their curiosity to open up.

Mrs. Sherrie Zagorco is a home economics teacher here at Mentor High School. Currently, she's teaching Parenting, Child Development, Interior Design, and Meals in Minutes. She is in her fifteenth year here at Mentor High.

In high school, Mrs. Zagorco regrets not taking many risks, but she knew in the eighth grade that she wanted to be a home ec. teacher. She took college prep. courses and home economics classes to prepare her for this career. She then went on to a college that offered Home Ec. Ed.

When asked if she has always been a teacher, Mrs. Zagorco stated, "One year when I couldn't find a job teaching, I kept busy at Sears -Great Lakes Mall, teaching sewing, demonstrating microwave ovens, training new employees on the cash register, and helping in the tailor shop, working part-time at jo Ann Fabrics, and being a salesperson at Casual Corner."

In her spare time, Mrs. Zagorco works on school, church, and community committees. She also likes to sew and cook.

Mrs. Zagorco had been teaching for twenty years. She knew what she wanted to become for a long time and kept with it. Now she is a successful teacher, wife, and mother. We are glad to have her here at Mentor High School.

As Mentor kicked off its very first year in the Lake Erie League, it brought about a wave of changes. Longer bus rides and all new competition were suddenly in front of us. In the past, Mentor High School athletic teams have pushed themselves to their maximum potential, achieving a level of performance unmatched by any others. Continuing in that tradition, the Fighting Cardinals have remained one of the dominating teams in the league, thanks to the long hours of hard work and dedication. As Mentor concludes its first year in the L.E.L., it takes with it the pride of victory.

TOSSIN' THE PIG SKIN!

CARDINALS TAKE ON NEW LEAGUE

Along with the normal stresses of starting a new season, the coaches Kirschbaum and Pavlansky had to take on the stresses of battling a new league. Naturally, it would be easier to prepare for individual games and the season as a whole when the team has had the experience with that particular league. They begin to know everyones strengths, weaknesses, and strategies.

The new league Mentor has entered, the Lake Erie League, is a very competetive, hard playing league.

The cardinals did an exceptional job at five and five. The entire team displayed a very good work ethic and the seniors played like true leaders.

According to coach Pavlansky, the team needs more athletes, and more athletes who will work out in the off-season.

This season was followed by the surprising resignation of coach Kirschbaum. He was a great coach and will surely be missed in the years to come.

Mentor scrambles for a loose ball against St. Joes.
“Number 29, Tim Burns,” were words often spoken over the loud speaker this football season. Tim is a wide receiver and a first year starter for the Mentor Cardinals. He gives full dedication to football, his favorite sport.

Until this year, the Cards were members of the Greater Cleveland Conference. This change was no big deal for Tim, as he has been playing football since he was in the fifth grade. Tim said, “We just play more non-conference games, and the competition is a little tougher.”

Everyday after school Tim practices with the rest of the football team from 3:00 P.M. to 5:30 P.M. These practice sessions consist of running pass patterns, a group session with the running backs, and in the end, working together as a team. According to Tim, “Football is not an individual sport, but a team sport.” It doesn’t bother him when the same player consecutively scores. He is happy just to be winning.

Since he is a starter, Tim is out on the fields playing the game most of the time. When he is running with the ball he doesn’t have any feelings of nervousness. The only thoughts going through his mind are those of where to run.

Even if their opponent is winning a game noticeably, Tim still believes that there is plenty of time to bounce back. He said, “We don’t give up. We give one hundred percent all the way.” He says that when Coach Karchbaum talks to them between plays, he gets right down to the point. “He tells us what we have to get done and how to get to the endzone.”

Tim said, “I don’t play for anybody but the team and myself.” He says it is nice to have fans at the games, but while he is playing, he blocks them out of his mind. At every game the marching band performs. At the beginning, it prepares him for the game and pumps him up.

Tim’s parents and little brother Ricky attend every game. He likes to have his parents there, but it really doesn’t cross his mind while he plays. He is very proud that Ricky runs around the field taking water to all his teammates. Tim hopes that Ricky will continue to play football in the future. He would like to teach him “How to be better than I am”.

Someday Tim might like to coach football, but as of now, going to Lakeland and majoring in Fire Science is in his future. He has thought about passing his talent on the football field along to a son someday and hopes to bring him up to play high school and college football.

As the varsity girls tennis team finished the season with an impressive record of 12-4, two of those girls still had more tennis lying ahead. Seniors Kiran Dodeja and Annette Niestroy, both three year lettermen, had secured a spot to play in the state tournament. During regular season play, both Kiran and Annette had switched off playing at 1st singles for the Cards, but were eventually paired up for the Solon Doubles Tournament. All day long they fought hard and eventually finished off the Solon team, winning the tournament. It was this win that seeded them 1st at the sectional tournament at Euclid. There, Kiran and Annette continued their winning streak with the help of coach Eric Vinborg. Their playing at Euclid was good enough to win them a trip to states. Although they dropped their first match to the eventual champions, the fact that they got there was impressive in itself.
The varsity volleyball team celebrates after winning the district title in Euclid. Setter, Laura Gibb, hugs her teammates after the winning point.
The Mentor volleyball team continued its winning tradition in 1993. Led by seniors Mary Dietrick, Gina DiSanto, Gail Galley, Laura Gibb, and Melani Klima, the Cards won their first championship in the L.E.L., seventh consecutive league championship, sixth consecutive district championship, and finished with an overall record of 21-3.

For their efforts, Mary Dietrick was selected 2nd Team-All Ohio, Lake-Geauga Plain Dealer 1st Team, News Herald All-Star, L.E.L. MVP, 1st Team District II, and Teams Coach Award. Laura Gibb, our setter, was All-Ohio honorable mention, Plain Dealer 1st Team, Lake-Geauga County Player of the Year, All Lake Erie League, 2nd Team in District, and our MVP. Middle blocker, Melani Klima, received an All-Lake Erie League selection, and our best offensive player. Gail Galley was selected best defensive player of the year, and Gina DiSanto was selected for the Heart and Determination Award.

Congratulations and thanks to our departing seniors for all you have contributed to our program. Best of luck in your future endeavors!

GYMNASTICS

Probably one of the least recognized, but hardest-working teams here at Mentor, is the girls gymnastics team. Lead by two returning seniors, Jackie Rizer and Anita Bellante, this years team competes with other teams around the Greater Cleveland area. Long hours of practice at Lake Erie Gymnastics School have paid off, leading to the success of the team. Other members include: Sophomores- Sabrina Cendrowski, Jeanna Galante, Kelli Howe. Freshmen- Wendy Meyers, and Kristen Seaholm.

Jackie gets caught horsing around again.

The next Rocky!
Jeanna Galante prepares to dismount from the uneven bars.

Chad Zgonc is still in shock after defeating Shaw. Don't worry "Z", we won!
At 6' 1.5" and 188 lbs., Jason Ioppolo is one force to be reckoned with. Jason is currently a starting point guard for Mentor High School. His excellent speed and three-point accuracy make him one of the most feared shooters in the league.

Jason leads the team in scoring, assists, and three point percentage for both the Cardinals and a summer team for which he played. Despite being contacted by both Yale and Harvard, Jason still feels that his chances of playing basketball for a division I college are slim.

Ioppolo, as he is often called by his friends, plays basketball every day until he's exhausted. He is constantly working on his game, joining summer leagues and going to camps. Basically, Ioppolo watches, studies, and just plain loves basketball. He claims that all three of these factors lead him to be the very best he can be.

Jason recommends to all kids who want to excel in basketball to be determined, work hard, start young, and play as much as they can. Most importantly, however, they must listen to their coach.

He feels that Mentor is going to be good this year. "We have a great coach (Krizancic). I'm really looking forward to playing this year," he explained.

Jason is an "All American Boy" who doesn't just excel in basketball, but academics as well. With a 3.8 GPA, he is one of the tops in his class. At 6' 1.5" and 188 lbs., Jason Ioppolo really is a force to be reckoned with.

Justin Stevens

After leading his team to victory against Shaw, Jason Ioppolo is carried off of the court by his fellow friends and teammates.

Poor Chad looks so lost.

Overall record of 11-4 as of Feb. 9. (tied for 2nd in LEL)

Hey buddy, your shoe's untied!

Come on guys, Coach Krizanic is calling us!
"Under-rated Mentor team tops 10th ranked Shaw Cardinals, 88-69."

It was your average Tuesday night, and Mentor teens flocked into the high school gymnasium. Everyone had come to see Mentor take on the Shaw Cardinals that evening. But little did those people know what was in store. They were about to witness the most important game in Mentor basketball history. Tonight was the night that Mentor beat one of the top teams in the state, and it was a night no one would ever forget.

The team came out strong, playing 100%. It was several minutes before Shaw even put points on the board, and for the remainder of the game, they were unable to catch up.

Mentor played hard the first half, giving everything they had. At the half-time buzzer, John Rutkowski's three-pointer put the Cardinals in a comfortable lead. At the start of the second half, our team came out of the locker room as strong as ever. Forcing turnovers into points, we took a strong lead, and before long, it was obvious who the winner would be.

The fans cheered loudly, supporting their team all the way to victory. An entire section full of face-painted bleacher creatures, raised the spirits of the whole crowd.

That night was a new page in basketball history. No, it wasn't Michael Jordan's big return. No, it wasn't a 360° slam dunk by Shaw starter, Basara Fakir. It was that fateful night that Mentor proved to everyone that it could compete with the big teams in the area. Coach Krizancic had led his team to victory, and those who were there to see it won't soon forget it.

During the fall pep assembly, the Marching Band and Color Guard members had a great time performing for the student body. Students and advisors agree the club and organizations give students the opportunity to interact with others that they may not have known otherwise.

Mr. Greg Allen, an advisor of many numerous clubs and organizations at MHS, offers his opinion: “It lets me meet some of the nicest kids in the school.” Each and every club and organization at Mentor High contributes to the school in its own unique way.

HONORS

World Renowned

As the world turned and life went on, the students of Mentor High School participated in many activities for which they should be commended. This year the Honors section is introduced, once again, to MHS. Its purpose is to recognize students who have received various honors and awards. These Mentor High School recognitions represent personal and group achievements which represent Mentor High School. Many different honors are included in this section. Whether they are simple or profound, they still are important. These prestigious people are the leaders of tomorrow, but their work and accomplishments need to be recognized today.

Her highness, Tracy Lemonovich, sits upon her newly appointed throne during this year's Homecoming assembly.
HOMECOMING COURT

Tracy Lemonovich, our 1993-1994 homecoming Queen, is a very special person. She is involved in many school activities such as Cross Country, Track and National Honor Society. Tracy is also in the top 5% of her class which contains over 740 people. In the next few years, she hopes to study Biology and someday become a doctor. She works at a local hospital helping in the maternity ward. The Class of '94 wishes Tracy the best of luck in her future as she is welcomed into a new world.

SNOW KING COURT

Jason White, our 1993-94 Snow King, is a very busy person. Not only is he the Senior Class Treasurer, but he also played on the football team, plays third base on the baseball team and is the Co-Captain of the soccer team. During his free time, he also helps out in the behaviorist group. In the future, Jason plans to attend a four year college and major in Economics or Business Administration. The Senior Class congratulates Jason on a successful high school career and wishes him the best as he enters a different world.

A Simpleton's Guide to Giving and Hints on Recieving

by Ben Roby

-10:48 pm Dec 23rd
"A tape?"
"Tunez."
"Good stuff?"
"Stuff that makes me think of you."
"Oh, so it is good stuff."
"Yea, good stuff."

-5:09 am Dec 24th
Okay. Here we go. Nineteen hours to Florida. Ten days of sun fun, and beaches. Ten days. Gosh, I'll miss her. I wonder what's on this tape.
Exit 104: Route 77 South Cincinnati 364 miles
Only one way to find out.

-PLAY/-/- "Close your eyes. Give me your hand. Darling, do you feel my heart beating? Do you understand? Am I only Dreaming? Or, Is this burning an eternal flame?"

-7:10 am Dec 24th
Crup. This tape isn't helping much. Can't say she's not a genius. I think I love her, even though I haven't told her her that. Yet, she also knows this stupid tape will make me nuts to see her again. Crup.

-PLAY/-/- "I want somebody to love, share the rest of my life with. Somebody who'll be there, no matter the price."

9:01 am Dec 24th
-It's got to be the most effective present I've ever gotten. Not even half there and I need her. No, I just want her. The tape tells me. I need her. I can't promise her, I just can't give her what she's asking of me. I want to though, I think. PLAY/-/- "You ask me what I want. You ask me what I need. Give me the gift of Love. Look me in the eyes, and say, you're dreaming of. That'd be the best surprise. Give me the gift of your sweet love. In the Light of the Day. In the dark of night." -Okay, so this tape is going to answer me, eh?
-STOP
No problem, Fifteen more hours.

11:48 am Dec 24th
-Man, this really is getting me. All she said she wanted was my word, for me to be here when I returned. Good thing too. I got her nothing. The tape was a complete surprise. I'd like to able to give her that for Christmas but I just don't see myself being ready for that kind of commitment.

PLAY/-/- "I can make the runner stumble, I can make the final block. And I can make every tackle at the sound of the whistle, I can make all the stadiums rock. I can make tonight forever. Or I can make it disappear by the dawn. And I can make you every promise that has ever been made and I can make all your demons be gone. But I'm never going to make it without you, do you really want to see me crawl? No, I'm never going to make it like you do, Making love, out of nothing at all."

-That's it.
Exit 210 Nashville, Tennessee.
North, Rt. 77, Cincinnati 210 miles
-I'll be there by midnight. God, I hope you know what you're doing. And enough of this tape! Time for my music.
-EJECT
-PLAY/-/- "Love is clockwork, and cold steel. Fingers, too numb to feel, Squeeze the handle. Blow out the candle. Love is blindness, In a parked car, In a crowded street. You see your love, made complete, Thread is ripping, The knot is slipping. It's blindness."

-11:59 Dec 24th
"HL"
"Hey! What are you doing here?"
"Well, I was just no where in the neighborhood and..."
"Come in."
"Look, I need to say something."
"Sure."
"I need you to hear this: I want you, only you, and I want you forever. Out there, on the road, I felt so alone. At first I figured it was just me being stubborn, not wanting to hear what your tape was telling me. I need you. I want to be yours."
"Forever?"
"Listen."

-PLAY/-/- "So when the night has been to lonely. And the road has been too long. And you think that love is only for the lucky and the strong. Just remember: In the winter, Far beneath the winter snow, Lies the seed, That with the sun's love, In the spring, Becomes the rose."

"Merry Christmas, I love you."
Math class is a monster
It's rough and tough and mean
   Its body so absurd
   It eats up every teen

It breaths a breath of fire
And shows its sharp, long claws
To any student's answers
Containing any flaws

Its body full of scales
And its eyes are open wide
If you haven't done your homework
   You better run and hide

If it decides it doesn't like you
It'll chase you through the school
   Its stomach is a-growling
   And its mouth is full of drool

When it finally catches you
   It'll eat you like a treat
   And no one comes to help
   Because it isn't very neat

The last thing it will munch on
Is your non-existent brain and spew your body parts about
   In icy winter rain

Now that you have heard
   What this class is all about
I wouldn't be a bit surprised
   If you took another route.

Academic Decathlon 92-93

Mock Trial was busy last year with competitions. They went to Districts and walked away as Districts Champions which qualified them for the state competition. Pictured above in Row 1: R. Bolton, B. Tropman, P. Hollard Row 2: J. Ferko (legal advisor), C. Mehia, N. Citavolas, J. Garafla, H. Stakich, S. Hollbrook, P. McGinnis, and Mr. Young. Nicole Citavolas, Pat McGinnis and Robyn Bolton were all given the honor of Outstanding Attorneys during the year and Beth Tropman was given the title of Outstanding Witness.

THE RENAISSANCE PROGRAM is a new approach at the high school to celebrate the good things that students do. The students are honored for the standard that they set in academics, attitudes, and attendance.
National F.F.A Team

The National F.F.A. Team traveled to Kansas City, Missouri earlier this school year to be the only ones to represent the state of Ohio at the competition. This is the first time that any Ohio team has been sent. Forty-eight states competed and Mentor’s team took thirteenth place. Congratulations to our winners with their accomplishments and future successes. Pictured left: Kim Thellman, Matt Heron, Mary Beth Kifus.

STUDENT LIFE

The Real World

We students have our own personal worlds outside of school. Some of us work hard at after-school or summer jobs. Others participate in Mentor High’s athletic teams and some people just like to go to the games and cheer for Mentor. There are also a lot of students that play important roles in our various clubs and numerous academic teams. Many people attend pep assemblies and dances. All of these activities make up each of our little worlds and those worlds, in turn, fit together like pieces of a jigsaw puzzle to make up the personality of our school, Mentor High. The goal of the Student Life section is to give glimpses into as many of these worlds as we can.

PROM 1993!

What can you say about Prom? Prom is supposed to be the dance of the year, and for many it was. The theme was "The Music of the Night" from Phantom of the Opera. It was held at the La Malfa Party Center on the night of May 21st.

The week before the night of May 21st was a very hectic one for many of the women of Mentor High as they booked hair and nail appointments. The men were also very busy renting tuxedos, washing cars, and some were even renting limos! A few people didn't even see their dates for that whole week. In the end, however, it was worth the trouble.
Before the dance begins, everyone is dressed up with one place to go, the La Malia Party Center.

When I hear the word "Prom" I think of...

All Together Now!!!

While walking through the student center, Floyd Mosley and Joe Responpic discuss how hard it is to understand girls.
"Together"

We are together here on this world of suffering.
Some of us may live one day at a time while others look on ahead to the future.
Through the years we have made friends and lost friends.
We have gone to war as victors and as not.
We have taught each other and learned from each other.
We have argued and made up.
Some may choose to be individuals while others choose to be equal with everyone.
Together we are here and together we must live.
Harmonize your voices and compromise your songs for today we go on living but tomorrow we may be gone.
It's our world together and together we must live, being anything we want to be.
Now as I bring this poem to its end, here is just one word from me to you,
"forever".

We all make new friends when we ride the school bus.

When you eat lunch in the senior courtyard, you are going to run into a lot of hungry friends.

Katy Lewis, Stacy Diehl, Kerri Kilbourne, and Kirsten Pugh put on their Aquafresh smile for Mentor.
At 8 PM on November 12, 13, 19, and 20, the audience grew silent as the curtain was raised to reveal the set of the first play performed in the new fine arts center. Noises Off marked the beginning of a new era. Not only was this show the first in the new auditorium, but it drew in the largest crowd ever to see a Mentor High drama production, and the technical aspects were difficult. The cast consisted of 5 males and 4 females. Acting were seniors Jason Broge, Angela Edwards, Andrea Lerevbvre, Brian Patacca, Shannon Rose, Tom Sperry, and juniors Tony Petrello, Molly Richards, and Nate Tuleson.

Everyday after school for six weeks, the cast and crew practiced in Mr. Lorek’s classroom because the Fine Arts Center wasn’t quite finished. At 2:45 screeches of moving desks came to a halt as a pretend stage came to life. The cast rehearsed after school as late as 6:30. While they rehearsed, the tech crew was hard at work. Headed by stage manager Sawsan Bishara and technical director Walt Conte along with Mr. Rotar and Mr. Sieth, this crew worked very hard on constructing a two story set as well as working with the new light and sound systems. The technical theater class was also heavily involved as each person contributed in all technical areas.

The cast practiced with the actual set only one week before opening night. The set posed many problems for the actors; it was difficult for the actors to become familiar with where each of the nine doors led but the actors were able to achieve the timing needed to make the show run smoothly and successfully. Another dimension was added to the production this year; actors on stage had to interact with actors in the audience. This was made easier through the use of small individual microphones and the hard work done by the sound crew led by Jason Weaver.

Noises Off showcased the talents of many students and through everyone’s hard work, efforts, and dedication, this year’s drama was a success.

Homecoming 1993

A dance for couples that are 'Forever In Love'

Homecoming was the first dance of the 1993-1994 school year. 'Forever In Love' was the theme for this year's Homecoming. It was held on the night of October 2nd, 1993. Before the Homecoming Dance, however, you have to have the Homecoming Game! Ours was a hard fought battle against St. Joe's. Even though we lost, the game was still exciting to watch. After the game, the dance was on everyone's minds. Many couples looked forward to dancing all night long and looking their best for each other. Everyone hoped that this would be a night to remember, and for many couples it was a night that they will never forget.

Senior Citizen’s Dance 1993

Going to the Senior Citizen’s Dance was one of the more rewarding events at Mentor High. The guests sit at a large table while the students serve them their meals. Following the dinner is an active night full of singing and dancing not only for the older generation but for the younger one as well. Knowing how happy the senior citizens are to have Mentor High’s students help them have fun makes the whole experience worth it.

Blood Mobile 1993

At the mention of the blood mobile, many people think of how funny it is to watch someone pass out. Other people can't even bear the thought of giving blood. But for those brave students who have given blood, it was a memorable experience that they won't soon forget. It makes many people proud to know that someday, they could help save a life by simply giving one little pint of blood.

After their blood was taken, the donors were able to eat donuts, pizza, candy bars, and have lots of other foods and drinks to help bring their blood sugars back up to normal. All in all, most of the donors thought it was a wonderful experience and they would do it again in a heartbeat.

Some of Mentor High's generous students prepare to give the gift of life.

Jessica Arlene Vaccaro, a sixteen year old junior at Mentor High, is a part of the Early Childhood Education Program. The course consists of ten modules, six of which Jessica works directly with the kids. The other four mods are rounded out with lectures, guest speakers, and instructional time on how to be a better teacher.

Jessica is assigned to one child every nine to ten weeks. The first nine weeks she was assigned to a five year old boy named Ryan. There are also five special needs children which have physical or emotional handicap. A regular day with the children begins with free play where they can play anything they want. Next, is story time where juniors read stories to the children. Then comes circle time in which everyone gathers together in a circle and sings songs. Lastly, Jessica meets with her assigned child, and they do special activities together. They read, practice with flashcards, do special worksheets, or just play together.

With this program, she could become a teacher (day care or kindergarten), an instructor of special needs children, or a librarian. Jessica is mostly looking into daycare.

Jessica looks forward to going to the class everyday. She exclaims, "I can’t be in a bad mood with the kids. They pop me right out of my bad moods!" She also said one of the highlights is when the kids give her hugs and pick her out of the group to play with them. Jessica feels this class is very beneficial to her child care learning, and she is excited about being a part of the program next year as a senior.
